BEDLAM

Broke Loose in British House of Commons Last Monday.

Premier Asquith Howled Down in Derision by the Last Ditchers.

Crisis in the Unionist Party and Conservatives are in Danger.

ADJOURNS IN GREAT DISORDER

Bedlam broke loose in the British House of Commons on Monday when Premier Asquith attempted to speak. For the first time in the history of Parliament the Speaker was compelled to invoke the rule which empowers him in case of grave disorder to declare the sitting adjourned on his own responsibility. For forty-five minutes Premier Asquith made futile attempts to read from a manuscript, and the Unionists at each attempt howled him down. It is alleged that it was the younger members of the Unionist faction who carried on the tumult. The majority of their colleagues regret it, and fear it will complicate the situation by increasing the determination of their opponents and alienating the sympathies of the country.

Probably a week will elapse before the veto bill, which caused the tumult, will be brought up again in the House of Commons. Meanwhile both sides are preparing to hold demonstrations in an effort to test their strength. The extremists in the Union party arranged a dinner for the Earl of Halsbury, F. E. Smith, one of the "last ditchers," who was a leader in the disturbance on Monday, arranged the demonstration in honor of the Earl, and declared he had the acceptance of 100 Peers. If the party splits as a result of the present strained conditions, the extremists will probably select the Earl of Salisbury as leader.

Arthur Balfour, the present leader of the Unionists, deplored the disorderly occurrences of Monday, and as a result cancelled an engagement to address a mass meeting of his supporters on the following day. In his place he addressed the committee that had arranged the meeting Mr. Balfour

"The unexpected turn political events have taken during the last days—even hours—has thrown me a special burden of work, makes it scarcely possible for me to undertake the additional work involved in a great meeting. I venture to ask that the meeting may be postponed to a convenient date, though I trust not to the date."

On the other hand the Liberals are going to have a mammoth dinner in honor of Premier Asquith. Among the disorderly ones on Monday was Lord Hugh Cecil, the conservative free trader, from Oxford University, who incessantly chanted: "Divide! Divide! Divide!" Other Unionists shouted "Hurrah for Redmond! He is the real leader!" Mr. Redmond only met these remarks with gestures of derision.

At one time Premier Asquith got as far as his remarks as "The House of Commons carried a resolution in favor of the bill in 1910 by a large majority, and but for the death of King Edward—"

"Keep the King out of politics. Who killed him? You did," resounded from the opposition benches.

Mr. Balfour took the floor and was accorded a respectable hearing. He said he regretted that he was unable to hear what the Prime Minister had to say, but he added that everybody understood that such proceedings as those in which his Majesty's Ministers have indulged can not but excite the deep and passionate feelings of the great mass of the community."

Following the tumult of Monday night Lord Lansdowne issued an appeal to the Unionists to support him. One hundred and nine replied at once and in the affirmative. The really influential members of the conservative party stand with Lord Lansdowne in favor of a peaceful solution of the situation. These include almost all the members of the last Conservative Cabinet, men like Viscount Curzon, Baron Middleton and Lord Cromer, who talk little but have immense power.

Every sane Tory realizes that the creation of the new Peers means Liberal omnipotence during three eventful years and the death of the House of Lords and the final extinction of titles in England and home rule for Ireland.

PRACTICAL ADDRESSES.

Those active in the "social reform movement" will receive some practical hints from the addresses of His Grace Archbishop Messmer, who will speak on "Christian Social Reform," and John Mitchell, who will have for his subject "The Philosophy of Trade Unionism," at the tenth national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies.

DECLINES TESTIMONIAL.

On September 29 next Rev. Thomas J. Carr will have been twenty-five years Archbishop of Melbourne, Australia. Recently the clergy and laity took steps to commemorate the jubilee by the inauguration or completion of some large work of public utility, as a monument to his labor for a quarter of a century in the diocese. When the Archbishop heard of it he called a halt, declaring he could accept no manifestation of good will that would involve pecuniary sacrifice on the part of a most generous people. A few years ago Archbishop Carr was presented with the unnumbered title deeds of the Cathedral Hall at a cost of $40,000.

QUEER.

Germans to Raise Irish Hops For English Beer.

Germany is going to invade England by way of Ireland. That sounds funny, but it is none the less true. A German nobleman with agricultural and commercial proclivities has bought 2,000 acres of land in Ireland and proposes to raise hops and dispose of them to English brewers.

Baron von Hurst, who with his brother is one of the largest hop growers in the world, will plant American hop roots on his 2,000 acres, and if the experiment proves profitable will buy more land and extend his operations. His hop fields in Lower California are quite extensive, and for ten years he has been supplying the English market with hops that the unsuspecting Briton supposed were raised in Kent. Then came the tax and American hops became almost prohibitive in Great Britain.

As England is the greatest consumer of hops of any country in the world, it became this German hop king to look around a bit. He knew that the Kent hop fields had been worked so long that they were almost barren. So he went to Ireland.

"I have found," he said, "a spot in Ireland where the rainfall and sunshine the year round are almost the same as in the best hop growing section of Kent. Still better, the soil is practically virgin, because, as you know, Irish farming lands have lain dormant for years on account of the land troubles. The chemical ingredients in the soil are almost the same as those in our hop fields in California. The subsoil is much better than that in Kent."

"I have bought only two thousand acres to start with, but if everything turns out as we think it will I shall take much bigger holdings, although of course the price will run up on us. I got this two thousand acres very cheap. I intend to plant it with three kinds of roots. The female roots I'll bring from California, because they are stronger and more prolific than those from Germany or the east of America. The male roots I will bring from the northern part of New York State and from Bohemia. It will be a sort of cosmopolitan hop that we will grow in Ireland."

Baron von Hurst will not employ Irish labor in the beginning because the Irish people are not familiar with hop culture. He will import 1,100 Germans who understand the business to begin his extensive work. The Baron's home is in Coburg Castle, Germany, but he spends much of his time in America and England.

HOLY CROSS

Getting Ready For Annual Lawn Fete and Supper.

The members of Holy Cross church, Thirty-second and Broadway, have almost completed arrangements for the electric lawn fete and supper to be given on the beautiful church grounds on Monday and Tuesday, August 7 and 8. There will be a great variety of booths and amusements, and the supper will be delicious. Ben A. Linneman is the chairman and E. J. Fox the secretary, and they are being assisted by the following committee:

Rev. John Sheridan is the pastor of this growing parish, which extends an invitation to all our citizens to visit this fete on at least one of the two days.

QUIET JUBILEE.

The Rev. Father Seibert, pastor of St. Mary's church, New Albany, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination on Wednesday, but the celebration was an exceedingly quiet one. Some of his parishioners knew that it was his silver jubilee until mass was over. Father Seibert was ordained in Austria and soon after came to America. He was assistant priest at Richmond, Indianapolis and Tell City in successive years, until the death of Father Faller, two years ago.

Diamond Jubilee Year of the Ancient Order Brings Tribute.

Copy of Original Charter Is Splendid Specimen of Catholicity.

GROWTH OF ORDER IS STEADY

This is the seventy-fifth anniversary or diamond jubilee year of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in this country. No particular date has been set for the appropriate celebration of the occasion in Louisville, but it is probable that the County Board will take up the matter in due time. The first division of the order was established in New York in 1836. Its growth has been large and steady, particularly in the Central and New England States. Here are the figures compiled by the National Hibernian from the reports of National officers:

Membership of the A. O. H., 160,000.

Membership of the A. O. H. Juveniles, 20,000.

Membership of the L. A. A. O. H., 66,000.

Membership of the L. A. A. O. H. Juveniles, 4,000.

Values of A. O. H. real estate, $1,092,000.

Values of A. O. H. personal property, $200,300.

Value of L. A. A. O. H. personal property, $49,132.58.

Cash in division treasuries, A. O. H., $1,153,030.49.

Cash in division treasuries, L. A. A. O. H., $291,545.75.

Expended for charity, sickness and death, A. O. H., 1909, $1,160,932.51.

Expended for charity, sickness and death, L. A. A. O. H., 1909, $88,019.20.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., describes the charter upon which the order was founded in this country as a document that breathes an apostolic spirit. "It is," he says, "as good a patent of nobility as was ever conferred by King or Kaiser, for there is wanting in it no essential of the Christian religion, no element of our liberal modern humanity." This charter sent to the few Hibernians then in New York breathes the true Irish spirit of faith, tenderness and fraternity, and in principle is surpassed by no organization in the world. Here is the foundation upon which the Ancient Order was built and has since flourished:

"All members must be Roman Catholics and Irish or Irish descent, and of good moral character, and none of your members shall join in any secret societies contrary to the laws of the Catholic church, and at all times and all places your motto shall be: 'Friendship, Unity and True Christian Charity.'"

"You must love without dissimulation, hating evil, cleaving to good. Love one another with brotherly love, without preventing one another; let the love of brotherhood abide in you, and forget not hospitality to your emigrant brother that may land on your shores, and we advise you above all things to have natural charity among yourselves."

"Also be it known unto you that our wish and prayer is that when you form your society, in many cities or towns, you will do all that is in your power to aid and protect your Irish sisters from all harm and temptation. As the Irish woman is known for her chastity all over the world; some of them may differ in their religion, but all brothers bear in mind that our good Lord died for all, therefore be it known unto you that our wish is that you do all that you can for the Irish emigrant girls, no matter who they may be, and God will reward you in your new country, and doing this you will keep up the high standing and honor of the Irish in America."

"We send these instructions to you, hoping you will carry them out to the best of your ability. Be it known unto you that you are at liberty to make such laws as will guide your workings and for the welfare of our old society, but such laws must be at all times according to the teachings of the Holy Catholic church, and the obligation that we send you, and all of your workings must be submitted to any Catholic priest, when called for. We send you these instructions, as we promise to do, with a young man that works on the ship, and who called on you before. Send a copy to our late friend that you spoke of and who is now working in Pennsylvania. Hoping the bearer and this copy will land safe, and that you will treat him right, we remain your brothers in the true bonds of friendship, this fourth day of May, in the year of our Lord 1836."

The Ancient Order has been foremost in works of charity and in the cause of Catholic education. They have made generous donations to the Catholic University and to the Catholic Church Extension Society, and everywhere have been the guardian and protector of those who had to follow them. This jubilee is one worthy more than ordinary note, and it is needless to say it will be everywhere observed in befitting manner.

FAKIRS.

Newspapers Asked to Aid in Decelving Pious Catholics.

Newspapers throughout the country have been mailed copies of a circular letter asking aid in securing subscriptions from Catholics to raise money to buy a golden statue to be eventually donated to the Sanctuary of St. Anne at Beaufre, Canada. To this shrine many thousands of the devout make annual pilgrimages for the sake of the wonderful cures which are ascribed to St. Anne in Beaufre. Rev. Father M. J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, had his attention called to the matter this week and immediately said that those behind the scheme were fakirs.

Father Lavelle added: "If they are doing any such thing they are fakirs and the public should be warned. No one has a right to raise money in that way where there is profit for some one concerned. I never heard of this association, and of course I have no authority from the church."

BUSY NIGHT.

Mackin Council Heard Some Very Gratifying Reports.

President Samuel L. Robertson presided over a well attended meeting of Mackin Council on Monday night. Quite a lot of routine business was disposed of during the evening.

R. Riddle, C. Schaefer, J. Doran and C. Oswald were reported improving. The reports which will be submitted to the Grand Council on August 20, 21 and 22 will show that on the quarter ending June 30 Mackin had more than 500 members in good standing, and that it had a comfortable balance in the treasury notwithstanding the expensive improvements made in the club house and the heavy drain for sick and death benefits.

Joseph Hancock, who is in charge of the arrangements for the Niagara Falls excursion, August 15, was generally complimented for his work and made a complete report of what had been accomplished. The excursion promises to eclipse the one of last year. The trip is a most excellent one, both by rail and lake, and the figure is exceedingly low for the excursion. Quite a number of young folks have postponed their vacations in order to take advantage of the visit to Niagara Falls.

The committee arranging the sunset excursion to be given this evening also made a report and announced additional attractions.

MURPHY—MEDLEY.

One of the most interesting weddings of the year in the West End will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Charles Borromeo church, when the Rev. Charles P. Ruffo will perform the ceremony uniting Walter J. Murphy and Miss Mary E. Medley, the attractive and accomplished daughter of William Medley, of St. Johns, Ky. The groom is the son of Joseph J. Murphy, the well known brick building contractor, with whom he is associated in business. William Medley, of this city, and Miss Claude Medley, sister of the bride-elect, will be the attendants. Following the church ceremony there will be a wedding reception and reception at the residence of the groom's parents, 738 South Twenty-fourth street, after which the newly weds will leave for a honeymoon trip to St. Johns and other points in Kentucky.

PASSIONISTS' ELECTION.

The Passionist Fathers of the Western province will assemble here at Sacred Heart Retreat on September 8 to elect a Provincial, First and Second Consultants and a Master of Novices. There are 200 members of the order eligible to hold any of these offices. Those who will come to Louisville to attend the general chapter of the province are: The Very Rev. James Reutemann, Provincial, from the Retreat of Immaculate Conception, Norwood Park, Chicago; the Very Rev. Lambert Kendrick, rector at Normandy, St. Louis; the Very Rev. Casimir Taylor, rector of Holy Cross Retreat, Cincinnati; the Very Rev. Daniel McGuire, rector Sacred Heart Retreat, Louisville; the Very Rev. Daniel Collage, rector of St. Francis' Retreat, St. Paul, Kan.; the Very Rev. Adelbert Klimeschek, rector at Norwood Park, Chicago; the Very Rev. Albert Cagay and the Very Rev. Isidore Dwyer, First and Second Consultants, from the Retreat of St. Ignace, Louisville. Whirly Avery, Master of Novices, at Louisville.

PIONEER TO BE HONORED.

It is reported that efforts will be made by leading Catholics of Wisconsin to induce the State to buy the tract along the mouth of the Wisconsin river. It was there, tradition says, that Father Marquette first held the Mississippi river, and it is proposed to name this park Marquette Park in honor of the famous discoverer. The land is now held by one family, who it is said will not oppose its acquisition by the State for park purposes.

RESTING.

Candidates and Supporters Are Preparing for the Fall Campaign.

Democrats Will Have a Platform Convention Here Next Month.

Republicans Liberally Patronized the Bar and Voted for Prohibition.

WHO WILL SUCCEED BINGHAM?

Just at present there is little active work going on in either political party in Louisville or in the State. Candidates and their supporters are resting up preparatory to engaging in a vigorous fall campaign, and it really promises to be a bitter contest. The Democratic leaders say there is no doubt that Kentucky will be redeemed from Republicanism, and that the majority for James B. McCreary and the whole ticket will be conclusive evidence that Kentucky is a Democratic State.

William P. McDonogh and R. Campbell Kennedy, members of the City and County Committee, have secured Masonic Theater for the convention to be held to draft a Democratic platform on August 15. The delegates will be elected at mass conventions throughout the State on August 12.

Already the Republicans regret that they chose Judge Edward C. O'Rear as their standard-bearer. He dominated the convention and is running on a platform as narrow as his own mind. This Republican leader showed his true colors in selecting his running mate by choosing Bristow when two men, either of whom had more strength, were offered him.

He is a fanatic on the prohibition and other questions and his entire platform is narrow and weak, yet the men running on it are not heavy enough to break it down. Just wait until the Democratic orators jump on it and see what will happen.

While the Republican convention was in progress at Phoenix Hill Park, and while the committee on resolutions were drafting a prohibition platform, the bulk of the delegates were liberally patronizing the bar.

It is expected that former Senator McCreary, Rufus H. Van Sant, of Ashland, who has been made Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee, and Judge Jeremiah A. Sullivan, of Richmond, will arrive early next week and will name the remaining members of the committee.

When the Democratic convention is held in Louisville next month able men will be put forward for each and every office from Judge of the Circuit Court to Constable. One thing is certain, a good man will be chosen to succeed Robert W. Bingham, who after his appointment as Mayor of Louisville by Gov. Beckham did his best to wreck the Democratic party. James P. Edwards, Thomas Barker, Charles F. Taylor, Clem Huggins, Allen Kinney, Marion Ripy and Thomas Walsh have all been spoken of as successors to Judge Bingham. Any one of these attorneys is well qualified to act as Chancellor. In all probability one of them will be chosen.

Neither is there any doubt that men like Barney Campbell, James Treacy, Fred Leazer and others will be nominated to succeed themselves in the Board of Aldermen. There are good men in the Board of Councilmen, too, who deserve re-nomination, men like Jerry King, T. J. Garvey, M. J. McDermott, Dr. C. F. Melton, C. J. Finegan, Ben J. Sand and others.

Even now people are asking why Judge O'Rear has not resigned from the Appellate Bench if he is the upright and broadminded man that the Louisville Post depicts. He is one of those grasping individuals who believes a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. He promises not to sit with the other Judges from now until the November election, but he will draw the salary just the same and impose additional burdens on the other Judges.

Louisville's non-partisan Board of School Commissioners is again in hot water. They have been accused of making contracts for painting in excess of $50. In the injunction suit filed Sam D. Jones, the Business Director, was named as a codefendant. The members of the Board have not denied that they had acted without authority, but put up the plea that they were trying to save money for the city. Even Judge Bingham disagreed with them and granted the temporary injunction asked for. There is a probability that the schools may not open at the regular time and that an immense hole will be made in the funds paid for their support.

The Louisville Evening Post continues to wage war on all saloons. It falls to acknowledge that there are many reputable men in the saloon business, men who are every whit as good morally and mentally as the editor of the Post. There are hundreds of saloons in Louisville that are orderly and law-abiding, yet they are constantly denounced. Everybody who likes an occasional drink can not afford to join the Pendonts Club. There are many saloon owners who are large taxpayers; they have raised children that are a credit to Louisville and would adorn any community. Why should these men be assailed for the misdeeds of a few?

JARRED HIM.

South Carolina Fanatic Is Sore at Taft and the Press.

The Baptist World, under date of Thursday, July 27, prints the following letter from N. N. Burton, of Batesburg, S. C.:

"I have just read your editorial on 'The Associated Press and the Baptist World Alliance,' and want to thank you for it. I saw it as you did; the Alliance was the most important religious meeting ever held on this continent, and yet there was next to nothing in the daily papers about it. The leading paper in the State had less than a half-column about the entire session. I placed the blame on the papers themselves, not doubting for a moment that the Associated Press had sent reports to all its patrons. It is nothing less than an outrage. Cardinal Gibbons was treated the other day with almost as much consideration as would have been accorded to King George. Is the Roman Catholic church a world power? That is what its prelates should receive such distinguished attention as was given the Cardinal by President Taft and others in Baltimore the other day? If W. H. Taft, the man, chooses to be a Unitarian nobody has a right to say a word, but when W. H. Taft, the President of the United States, accords to the representative of the Catholic church a recognition and indirect endorsement not given to others, he should not be regarded as the spokesman for Protestant America."

ST. COLUMBA'S

Lawn Fete Will Be First On New Parish Property.

The members of St. Columba's congregation have made elaborate preparations for a splendid lawn fete, which will take place next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and night, August 1 and 2, on their magnificent new property on Market street, near Thirty-fifth. This is one of the most beautiful spots near Shawnee Park. A delightful shady place will be reserved for the euchre and lotto games in the afternoon. The ladies of the parish will show their usual generosity in the matter of elegant prizes. They will also serve a beautiful supper. Tickets are only twenty-five cents and are good for the afternoon euchre, lotto or supper. Special lotto games will be run for the children at ten cents. There will be an abundance of home-made cakes and other refreshments and a bounteous supply of articles for the wheel and box booth.

Rev. Father John Kalaher, pastor of St. Columba's, invites his friends from other parishes to attend and promises an enjoyable evening to all present.

WON A BRIDE.

Young Irishman Learns Something Besides Shoemaking.

Charles J. Dolan, of Dublin, Ireland, and a former member of Parliament, will marry Miss Katherine Louise Kenney, of St. Louis, in the early fall. The exact date has not been set. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Alice M. Kenney, the wealthy widow of William M. Kenney, who died several years ago. Mr. Dolan is wealthy and is an ardent Irish Nationalist and philanthropist. He resigned his seat in Parliament to come to the United States to study the wholesale shoe manufacturing business, so that he would be better able to administer his own business and in order to provide more and better employment for the poor people of Dublin. When he reached St. Louis he donned overalls and began work at the bottom of the ladder. Since then he has climbed steadily and is now an expert at the business. He is building a home for his bride in Dublin.

INTERESTING LETTERS.

National President James J. Hogan has written to County President D. J. Coleman to the effect that he will visit Louisville during the coming fall and expresses regret that he was unable to be here during the summer. He also expresses his appreciation of the growth of the order in Kentucky. President Coleman is in receipt of a letter from P. J. Hattigan, editor of the National Hibernian, who was recently elected Reading Clerk of the United States House of Representatives. Editor Hattigan thanks Louisville Hibernians for the interest they showed in his race. Both letters were read at the meeting of the County Board, A. O. H., last night.

MOTHER GENERAL HERE.

Mother Aloysius, the new Superior General of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, whose headquarters are at Carthage, Ohio, arrived in Louisville on Monday for a short stay and will probably remain another week. She is engaged in making a tour of all the convents in her jurisdiction. For thirty years she was Mother Superior of the Convent of the Good Shepherd on Bank street.

EDIFYING.

Hundreds of Catholic Men Received Holy Communion at St. George's.

Rev. Father Weiss Complimented Vincentians on Their Good Showing.

Touching Addresses Were Made At General Meeting of the Society.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL'S FESTIVAL.

Last Sunday the Vincentians all over the world celebrated the feast of St. Vincent de Paul by receiving holy communion and in the afternoon general meetings of the conferences were held in various cities and towns. The St. Vincent de Paul Society is undoubtedly the leading organized charitable association in the world. It has been a power for good in both the old and the new world. It is only surprising that more Catholic men are not members of this organization. The Vincentians in their respective parishes look after the sick and needy and also aid in securing work for those out of employment. Their charity is always unostentatious and their works bring blessings on themselves and families, because they are constantly practicing both the corporal and spiritual works of mercy.

In Louisville last Sunday all the local conferences made their general communion at St. George's church. The men made the early morning visit from every section of the city, many of them traveling seven or eight miles to attend. All were pleased, and many surprised to see such a handsome structure on South Eighteenth street. The Rev. Father George Weiss, pastor of the church, celebrated the high mass. The music was rendered by an augmented choir under the direction of Prof. Leo Koller. There were men present from nearly every Catholic choir in the city.

After the gospel Rev. Father Weiss addressed the members of the society, and commented upon the fact that it was their first visit to St. George's. He said he welcomed them with pleasure and that he felt honored to have present so many Catholic men who had banded together to carry out the work and spirit of St. Vincent de Paul. He dwelt upon the service they were rendering to humanity and the church and bade them continue to be faithful members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Father Weiss also told of the establishment of a conference in St. George's parish ten years ago, and dwelt on the good work it had done. It had been his aid in the parish, he said, and as a result the parish and the people were now being rewarded with the blessings of God. Then referring to the gospel of the day, he said that the society was like the tree that brings forth good fruit. The words sunk deep into the hearts of those present and all felt well repaid for their visit to St. George's.

On account of the extensive repairs in progress in St. Francis' Hall in the basement of the Cathedral, the general meeting of the conferences was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Fourth avenue, near York street. J. J. Caffrey, President of the Particular Council, presided and introduced Rev. Father Richard Murphy, O. M. C., of St. Anthony's church. Father Murphy spoke on the general work of the order and told of his observations of its members in other cities. He admonished all to be faithful Vincentians and assured them that they would receive untold blessings, both temporally and spiritually.

The Rev. Father Eugene Donahue, of the Cathedral, who is Spiritual Director of the Particular Council, and the Rev. Father Louis G. Deppen, who has always taken a deep interest in the Vincentians, both made interesting and instructive addresses. Before the meeting closed twenty new members of the society were enrolled. John A. Doyle told of the work of the order in the Louisville School of Reform and said it was his pleasure to report that there was at present not one Catholic girl in that institution.

ARRIVED SATURDAY.

One of the handsomest and most welcome visitors that has come to Louisville in some time arrived last Saturday at the home of Councilman Charles J. Finegan, 314 North Nineteenth street. The young man, who weighed ten pounds, but bids fair to gain in flesh. The genial Councilman is all smiles, while the mother and son are getting along nicely. All are being showered with congratulations.

REMEMBER ST. LEO'S.

All friends of Rev. Father John J. Fitzgerald, pastor of St. Leo's church, Highland Park, will please remember that the annual outing will be held on the church lawn next Thursday afternoon and evening. Both dinner and supper will be furnished on the grounds at reasonable prices, and any number of amusements will be afforded for young and old.
